

K-LOVE provides me with christian guidance and fellowship in my everyday life. The music lifts my spirits and gives me positive messages and energy to get through every day. The removal of this station would be very distressing to me: christian radio is integral in my life, as well as many of my friends and relatives. As indicated by my previous points, K-LOVE's present services are of substantial value to the public as a whole - not just the christian community. K-LOVE is entirely listener supported, but the radio station provides employment for a number of people that pay state and federal income taxes - people that contribute positively to the surrounding community, country, and world.
